by meyer.

Our food law cast started in June 2020. Our food law cast aims at providing you helpful information in an entertaining one-hour webinars in which we will give you an insight into European regulations and national particularities that occur in practice when placing a food product on the EU-market. Therefore, we regularly invite guest speakers of our global network and elaborate practical questions in open discussions.

LABELLING

Rules for indicating the country of origin or place of provenance, e.g. for primary ingredients and the adoption of national measures

Do you know how when you must indicate the country of origin?

Or what is the primary ingredient of your food?

In our one-hour webinar, we will talk about the latest challenges in country of origin labelling and will address the regulatory risk related to those. We will explore e.g. the latest Decision of the European Court of Justice related to this question (Case C-485/18 – Groupe Lactalis) and helpful Guidance documents as well as regulatory enforcement approaches that impact food business operators in view of the mandatory indication for country of origin or place of provenance together with food lawyers from Europe, this time from France, Italy and Germany.

During the live webinar, you will have the chance to ask your question in an open discussion.
